ALEXANDRIA, Va., May 5, 1897. The Opera House was packed to the doors again last night by an immense audience who had come to hear the second presentation of the comic opera, Pinafore, by local talent for the benefit of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, and the entertainment was the same unqualified success as the performance of the night before. Too much cannot be said in praise of each and every member of the cast, and it is not stretching point to say that the presentation would have done credit to professionals. Misses Mai Greenwell, as Josephine, and Sara Rathbone, as Cousin Hebe, could not have been excelled. Miss Greenwell has a style that eminently fits her for the role, and her musical education has brought out as she, in a catchy way, made love to Sir Joseph, and "all the boys" would have gladiy exchanged places with him.

Mr. George H. Evans, as "Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B.," played his part as if he was at home in it, and played it well, while Messre. Bryant and Chas. Moore made decided hits during the evening. The chorus was one of the best ever gotten together in this city. As has been said, it was well balanced, and all sang with a vim seldom heard off the professional stage.

AMUSEMENTS. THE CHORAL SOCIETY IN "ARMIN-

IUS."-The customary large representation of the lovers of oratorio music were pres ent last evening at the Congregational Church to hear Max Bruch's "Arminius," produced by the Washington Choral Society, and they were afforded a rare treat. This secular oratorio portrays the uprising of the German tribes against Roman oppression at about the beginning of the Christian era, and the complete annihilation of Varus and his Roman hosts by Herrman or Arminius, the chief of the Cheruscans, who had assembled all the north German tribes in the Teutoburger forest. The music of the oratorio may be characterized as grand and appropriate, and was interpreted by the Choral Society and its soloists in the usual faultiess man. and was interpreted by the Choral Society and its soloists in the usual faultless manner which made the organization famous ere this. The choruses, under the efficient conductorship of Prof. Kaspar, were far above criticism. Accustomed, as the people of Washington are to the well-nigh perfect rendition of choral music by this society the unstitude appliance bestowed society, the unstinted applause bestowed last evening seemed to demonstrate clearly that in the opinion of the audience the society had surpassed itself. Miss Mary Louise Clary, the contralto soloist, sang the part of the Priestess with great power and perfect technique. She has a voice of great range and beauty, which in the higher notes resembles a soprano. Mr. Max Heinrich, the baritone, created a perfect furore with his magnificent voice and by the easy confidence with which he rendered the part of Arminius. Mr. E. C. Towne, the tent relief the part of Siege. the tenor soloist, sang the part of Sieg-mund in a very satisfactory manner, his voice pleasing the audlence by its sweetness and lyric quality. In the impassioned passages he sang with great spirit and effect, and, in fact, in all his work he showed the finished artist. Judging from the way he manipulated the organ, both with skill and spirit, it would seem that no better ac-companist than Mr. John Porter Lawrence companist than Mr. John Porter Lawrence could have been secured. He supported the chorus magnificently from beginning to end. Those of the musical enthusiasts of Washington who were not present last evening will have an opportunity this evening at the Congregational Church of hearing "Arminius" sung.

"ERMNIE." — Jacobowski's "Erminie, always a favorite in this city, will be doubly welcome at the Lafayette Square Opera House next week, because of its interpretation by the Castle Square Opera Company, who have already ingratiated themselves into the good graces of Washingtonians by reason of their merit and general excellence: while the beautiful inmountings and incidentals, too often neglected, but so carefully added to the presentations at this house, reflect most creditably upon this management. The cast for "Erminie" will be chosen with a view for "Erminic" will be chosen with a view for "Erminic" will be chosen with a view to the best results, and the scent's equip-ment will be superb, the pink ball room scene being a particularly handsome piece of stage work. Everything that can tend to make the entire production a success will be at hand. Lyrically "Erminic" conwill be at hand. Lyrically Ermine con-tains many gems, the most familiar being the famous "Lullaby," "Downy Jail Birds We," "All for Glory," "Darkest the Hour," the "Good Night" chorus, the funny "What the Dickey Birds Say," and many others. There is a very pretty gavotte in troduced by the entire company that is very charming to both eye and ear. The prices are within the reach of all, 25, 50 and 75 cents for reserved seats at the evenings, and for the matinees, entire lower floor, 50 cents, and entire balcony. 25 cents. STUART ROBSON.-Next Monday Stuart Robson will begin a week's engagement at the National Theater, in the Jucklins, by Daniel L. Hart, founded on Opie Read's latest novel of the same name. The part is unlike any Mr. Robson has ever presented to Washington theater goes from the dress coat to the grammatics. ers; from the dress coat to the garments of the farmer is a great change, but one that has offered Mr. Robson ample opportunity to display his well-known versatility. Len Jucklin, the part portrayed by Mr. Robson, is a North Carolina farmer, very religious, with a penchant for fighting game roosters. In the hour of trouble he seeks consolation by fighting his game cocks. The "Jucklins," for its wholesome humor and pure tone, has been likened to the "Old Homestead," and is said to justify the prediction that it bids fair to become a companion play to this well-known success. this well-known success. The sale of seats will commence tomorrow morning.

THE LOST PARADISE.-The summe season will open at the Academy next Mon-day night, on which occasion the Cummings stock Company will make its initial bow a Washington audience. The play selected for the opening week is H. C. De Mille's great work, "The Lost Faradise." "The Lost Paradise." is a remarkably strong play, and, while it has a romantic story for its main theme, it deals, in a wholly inter-esting manner, with one of the vital issues of the day—the question of capital vs. labor. The author has not placed himself in the position of offering offense by an attempted solution of the problem, but has handled the question earnestly and in a way to cause both employer and employe to do a little just thinking. No play yet written by a native playwright carries its dramatic ina native playwright carries its dramatic in-terest so absorbingly to climaxes as "The Lost Paradise," and in no other American play is the potentiality of words more ef-fective. During the engagement of the Cummings Stock Company summer prices will prevail—25 and 50 cents for reserved seats; boxes seating six $3, and 25 cents general admission.

BLACK PATTI'S TROUBADOURS.—A senuine festival of mirth and melody will be offered by Black Patti's Troubadours on be offered by Black Patti's Troubadours on the occasion of their performance next week at the Grand Opera House. There are fifty people in the company, which in-cludes Black Patti, who is unquestionably one of the greatest singers this generation has heard; Hen Wise, Anthony Byrd, Bob Coles and Stella Wiley, deisartean dancers; Billy Johnson, descriptive vocalist; Goggins and Davis, knock-about acrobats; DeWolfe Sisters, duetists: Master Rastus the cham Sisters, duetists; Master Rastus, the cham-pion buck dancer, and others. In addition there is a well-trained chorus of thirty voices, and a march and ballet contingent of twenty. The first hour and a half of the evening is devoted to the comedy and spectacular forces, in which is introduced the evening is devoted to the comedy and spectacular forces, in which is introduced the most novel and merriest skit of the times, called "At Jolly Coney Island." In this skit life at the "Bowery" of this famous resort is pictured true to life, and the scene has been reproduced on canvas by the famous artist, Harley Merry, from sketches taken on the occasion of a midsummer night revel, which the company faithfully and humorously illustrates. This affords a splendid vehicle for the comedians and specialty performers to disport their diversified talents. The skit is a medley of bright sayings, and up-to-date songs and dances, in which the "coon song" and "buck dances," the "bicycle girl" and the "con man with the glad hand" are prominent features. The vaudeville ollo, which follows is made up of varied and startling acts, and this is followed by the sensational operatic kaleidoscope which has made a tremendous success wherever the company has appeared. It is in this part of the entertainment where the company gives evidence of its superiority. Such solo and ensemble operatic singing as rendered by Black Patti and her fifty troubadors has been rarely equaled by the most pretentious grand opera companies. The operatic kaleidoscope only lasts about 30 minutes, and

"THE CITY SPORTS."-The attraction at "THE CITY SPORTS."—The attraction at Kernan's Lyctum next week will be Flynn and Sheridan's City Sport Big Burleque Company. This organization contains all of the essentials necessary to a successful vaudeville and burleque company. The City Sports have been here before, but the only old and familiar remnant of the City Sports' past success is the title, which could not very well be altered or disposed of. The company of today is new, bright and up-to-date in every particular; every artist in the olio of specialties is a disand up-to-date in every particular; every artist in the olio of specialties is a distinctive feature, each and every one contributing some novel or sensational saying, dance or performance. HUBERMAN, THE VIOLINIST .- Bronislaw Huberman's genius has astonished us all. It certainly has the aspect of a mirall. It certainly has the aspect of a miracle that so youthful an artist should be so great—should command a tone so majestic, a technique so flawless, a musical insight so penetrating. There is probably no more difficult number for a violin than Brahm's concerto; it seems as though it had been composed against rather than for a violin. It reaches, as one might say, Alpine altitudes; yet Huberman scaled these all but inaccessible heights without a misall but inaccessible heights without a mis-step and there plucked the Edelweiss in dizzy ecstacy! After this grandiose performance all else was a mere bagatelle for this artist, and his recitals aroused such storms of applause that he was compelled to respond again and again to their de-mand for additional numbers. Huberman played the immensely difficult concerto of Wieniawski and the same composer' "Faust Fantasie" in the most faultles manner. Anticipating, as one always does, something more extraordinary, one is never disappointed, for each new performance of this artistic marvel transcends the one preceding. He will give his farewell concert Sunday evening at the Columbia.

THE MADRIDS' CONCERT.-Final re hearsals of the Madrids' Grand Mandolin Banjo and Gultar Orchestra will take place tonight and Saturday night, 7:30 c'clock, at Confederate Veterans' Hall, 431 11th street northwest. This orchestra is the largest of its kind in the world. In addition to this feature, the Madrids will be assisted by Mrs. Nellie Wilson Shir-Cliff, Herman C. Rakemann, W. V. Price, the Burnt Cork Club, the Carroll Institute Orchestra, Miss Pauline Bliss, pupils of "Caruana," John Tweedale, pupils of Miss Minnie Hawke, W. H. Conley and Leo Wheat. There will also be a farcial comedy by members of the Carroll Institute Dramatic Club.

CANTATA OF "RUTH."-J.Astor Broad's cantata of "Ruth" will be reproduced at Odd Fellows' Hall, 7th street northwest between D and E streets, this evening. It was given Monday evening at the Marble Hall, Soldiers' Home, when it excited much favorable comment. The performance this evening, of course, will be even better than that given Monday evening on account of both chorus and principals being more fa-millar with the music. The chorus consists of fifty trained voices and is under the di-rection of Miss Lulu Facius. The concert is given under the auspices of the First Reformed Church, 6th and N streets north-

"DAVID GARRICK "-The Carroll Institute Dramatic Club, well known in Washington as one of the leading amateur dramatic organizations of this part of the country, will give its annual performance at the Columbia Theater Tuesday evening next. The performance is for the benefit of the Catholic University Athletic Associa-tion, and this insures its financial success. As far as the artistic success of the performance is concerned, that fact is assured in advance by the sterling worth of the club as a dramatic organization. The play to be put on is that in which the club made a signal success some time ago—"David Garrick." It will be preceded by the one-act sketch, "Barbara." The company comprises Edward J. MISS LICHTER AS MARGUERITE.-A change was made in the cast of "Faust" as presented by the Castle Square Opera Compresented by the Castle Square Opera Com-pary at the Lafayette Square Opera House last night. Miss Anna Lichter took the part of Marguerite, and was a vast im-prevement over Miss Klein in that char-acter. While her voice is not quite broad enough for the part in the last great trio, on that account she was obliged to hurry the tempo. She sarg her other numbers heautifully and in the jewel song earned beautifully; and in the jewel song earned and received an emphatic encore. Mr. William Schuster was the Mephistopheles, and sang the numbers well, acting the part with more ease and intelligence than did the one who assumed the character Monday night. Miss Linck repeated her suc-cess as Seibel, and the chorus was fully up to its usual high standard. The audienwas large and enthusiastic

Arguments in the Motion for a New Trial for James Cassidy. The motion for a new trial in the case of James Cassidy, the young man convicted in Criminal Court No. 2 last month of passing an altered $2 bill on Richard Jennings, a South Washington barkeeper, several weeks ago, was argued yesterday be-

The altered bill was raised to represen a $10 one by means of water colors. At the trial Cassidy's attorney, Mr. Thos. C. Tay-lor, argued that the note had not been sub-jected to such an alteration as is contem-plated by the statutes, and in support of his contention Mr. Taylor wiped the water colors off with a damp cloth, leaving the bill uninjured. He also urged this contention today in support of the motion for a new trial. Assistant District Attorney Laskey submitted that the alteration was in violation of law, and asked that the motion be denied.

 Was Very Nervous

Had Smothering Spells and Could Not Sleep --Doctors called It Neuralgia and Indigestion. Hood cured.

"I had pains in my head, neck and shoulders, and all through my body, but they were most severe in my left side. The doctor called it neuralgia and indigestion. I was confined to my bed for eight months. I was very nervous, had smothering spells and could not sleep. I read of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla and of a case similar to mine. My husband procured a bottle, and I began taking ft. After taking one bottle I felt better, was able to rest and my appetite improved. I continued until my nervousness was cured and I was much better in every way. My husband has also been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla." MARY S. STONE, Spainville, Virginia.
